CardioComm Solutions Launches Series of Marketing and Public Relations Initiatives in Support of Move into Consumer Medical Market

Company is a Co-Sponsor for National Heart Health Month and CEO, Etienne Grima, Interviews with Wall Street Reporter

TORONTO, ONTARIO – CardioComm Solutions, Inc. (CardioComm Solutions) (TSX VENTURE:EKG) completed a recent interview with the Wall Street Reporter and an upcoming Ad in USA Today mark the beginning of a Marketing Communications Campaign in support of the company's entry into the Health Market with their recently announced Food and Drug Administration (FDA) clear HeartCheck™ Pen Hand Held ECG targeted at consumers.

In his interview with the Wall Street Reporter Mr. Etienne Grima, CEO, discussed CardioComm Solution's current direction in the field of Telemedicine and provided insight into planned initiatives that the company will be launching over the next 24 months, initiatives building on proven and stable software products. The interview highlighted CardioComm Solutions as a software engineering company that is not dependent on others for software enhancements and innovations, a company emerging from three years of planning with an aim to close the gap in providing access for patients and consumers to qualified medical care.

Francois Paul Thibault, Canadian Designer and Sculpture of Yellow Knife, NWT, Canada said "I believe CardioComm's technology will empower people with direct access to doctors and professional teams at breakneck wireless internet speeds. This will streamline our health system to where it should be and reach well beyond. CardioComm's new wireless propriety software and HeartCheck™ PEN technology will allow patients and individuals from all areas of the globe to save valuable time. What CardioComm will offer is the opportunity to save millions of dollars in medical travel services in regions like the NWT, the Yukon and Nunavut. Each year hundreds of people fly escorted to large centers for these types of test at an incredible cost to our Government and Health Care system. Investing in one of these PEN devices will save a world of uncertainties, alleviate sleepless nights and most importantly may save a multitude of lives. Finally the Star Trek Era is here."

CardioComm Solutions to Co Sponsor Publication for National Heart Health Month

In keeping with their commitment to patient education and awareness, CardioComm Solutions, Inc. will be co-sponsoring a major educational publication and campaign for National Heart Health Month. On February 23rd, 2012, Mediaplanet Publishing, Inc. will be releasing its 5th edition of "Cardiovascular Health" to be distributed in USA Today in key regional markets. The publication will stress the importance of open patient-doctor dialogue and will also address issues around Atrial Fibrillation. "We thought this would be a great opportunity to introduce the HeartCheck™ PEN to a consumer audience and discuss how innovative patient monitoring can help prevent the occurrence of sudden cardiac events" said Etienne Grima.

"CardioComm Solutions continues to be a significant player in ECG Management Solutions" noted Mr. Simi Grosman, a member of CardioComm Solution's Board of Directors "under the stewardship of Dr. Anatoly Langer, the company's Chairman of the Board, and CEO Etienne Grima's business leadership and vision, the company is beginning to see the results of the last 3 years of continuous product development and software enhancements.
